Recent college graduate and author James S. Parker releases self-published book "My College Tips". It is a gift type book full of college tips based on his 8 years of college experience.

James S. Parker was one of the numerous college students to start off their college career the wrong way. In fact, it took him many years to get to the point where he was making progress in his degree. The most important thing that James did was not quit. He stuck it out through bad grades, financial difficulties, moving, changing schools, changing majors, and more.

His last two years he had learned so much he started keeping a notebook of tips and lessons learned. Well his notebook grew and has now become his self-published book "My College Tips". This book contains advice, tips, resources, and more that will help graduating high school students and even current college students who are still struggling to find their way.

In the end James finally got it right by graduating with a Bachelor of Science in Computer Science and a Minor in Entrepreneurship. Who says you have to spend 8+ years in college. "My College Tips" can help you right from the start and keep helping you when you walk across the stage. Who knows you might even graduate faster than James.
